WALDO.

Waldo, July 1.—A very interesting commencement program was rendered by the Patterson graduates from Waldo Thursday evening. There were six graduates, four girls and two boys. The stage was prettily decorated in pink and green. The graduates and Rev. C. W. Allen, the speaker of the evening, and S. W. Allen, organist, occupied the stage. Music was furnished by the Waldo orchestra. Lucile Benedict gave a well prepared oration on "The American Indian," endeavoring to set forth some of the good qualities of the race, and comparing them most favorably with other primitive races. She was followed by Ralph Corbin who read an excellent paper on the merits of the Wireless Telegraphy system, giving graphic illustrations of its use in life saving. Harold Grigsby gave a fine recitation entitled "Don't You See?". He spoke in an excellent manner and showed careful preparation. Cecil Miller then recited in a charming manner Whitcomb Riley's "Knee Deep in suddenly and seriously ill with neuralgia of the stomach Monday evening, but is some better. William Benley was a Marion visitor Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. William Corbin and family visited Sunday with their brother Joshua Corbin and family near Agosta. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith visited at Marion Saturday. LA RUE.

LaRue O., July 1.—The Sand Pike south of town is now being extensively repaired and recovered with crushed stone, and for the present is closed from travel. Commencement exercises of the Patterson graduates of Bowling Green Grand, and Montgomery townships was held in M. E. church Wednesday evening June 29th. A very large audience being present. The Burbaugh orchestra furnished excellent well prepared music. The following named young gentlemen and ladies participated, each one acquitting themselves with great credit: Clyde Robinson, Mable Everett, Margery Sager, Lowell Cook, Ert Hofer, Mildred Blow, Earnest Mason, Meri Kramps, Lowell Dille, Rollie Seckle and Miss Ethel Trumbo. Miss Frol Marmon rendered a beautiful solo. A fine class address was delivered by Prof. R. B. Bell. Rev. Sutton conducted the devotional exercises. The service closed at a late hour. Everyone being pleased and feeling glad that our free school system affords such excellent facility for the cultivation of the minds and hearts of our rising generation. Mrs. Donovan has purchased of Wm. Mapes what is known as the Mapes home stand in the north part of town. Rev. Sutton returned from Creston Monday evening where he delivered the I. O. O. F. Memorial sermon on Sunday to a very large audience. The Canton Canton of Wooster was present as also membership from Lodi, West Salem, and Medina. One hundred and fifty Odd Fellows being in line preceded by the Band in their march to the cemetery. The Maccabees and I. O. O. F. of LaRue held Memorial services in the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. Rev. L. H. Myers of Hepburn spoke for the Maccabees and Hon. G. E. Mouser of Marion for the Odd Fellows. Both Addresses were well delivered and are highly spoken of. Rev. Sutton attended the funeral service of S. P. Keener near Marion Thursday, and the funeral of John E. Shuster here Friday. Our citizens were greatly shocked in learning of the sudden death of John E. Shuster who was well known in our midst and had but a few months before moved from us to Marion to secure employment. Mrs. G. C. Allinger left Thursday morning for a weeks visit with relatives and friends in Columbus. Grant E. Mouser, Jr., is spending a few days visiting friends in and about LaRue. Wm. Harris who was recently shot by his brother James Harris is up and about and was in town Saturday afternoon on business.

PROSPECT.

Prospect, July 1.—Company B, 121 regiment, O. V. I., held its annual reunion at the home of J. W. Statler Monday. Following dinner at the Central hotel the day was spent in a social way and greatly enjoyed by the veterans. Those present were Peter Boger, Marion, Samuel Berry, Ashley; W. B. Patten, Delaware; John Fletcher, Shelby; Peter Kuhn, Shelby; Wm. Riverdale, H. A. Landis, J. H. Treese, and J. W. Statler, Prospect. Capt. R. Van Houten of company E. was also a guest. A pleasant surprise was given to Miss Ethel and Lena Grigsby at their home south of Prospect Saturday evening. About 30 young ladies and gentlemen from Mr. Varne Kile gave them a very pleasant surprise at their home north of Prospect Monday evening, the occasion being the celebration of his nineteenth birthday anniversary. He received many presents and the evening was spent at music and games, and a dainty luncheon was served. Monday the council held an important meeting and awarded the contracts for the paving of Water and Main streets of Prospect. The bid of Jardine, Brewer and Tomlinson of Chillicothe for paving the streets with Bolen brick, five inch concrete base and machine cut curbs was found to be the lowest bid and the said firm was contracted for the work. The sewer pipe contract was awarded to H. W. Wolfrey of Prospect and labor to J. H. Henderson of Coshocton. No prices of the work were made public. The estimate cost for the improvement and paving of both streets is totaled about $5,500. Messrs. Fred and Clifford Hock, entertained 30 of their friends at their home east of Prospect, Wednesday evening. Mr. E. Merchant of Postoria was a Prospect visitor Thursday. Mrs. Elizabeth Griffiths and daughter, Esther, visited friends at Cardington several days this week. Mr. C. L. Hollenback was a Delaware visitor Thursday. Patterson Commencement at Prospect. The Patterson graduates held their commencement exercises at the Prospect Opera house, Thursday evening, June 30, 1910. The stage was beautifully decorated with potted plants. Quite a large crowd was present and the graduates rendered the following program, which was very interesting. After a selection by the Prospect orchestra Rev. M. D. Baumgardner gave the invocation. The first one of the graduates to appear was Miss Eunice, when she gave her reading entitled "Busy" which was very pleasing and showed Miss Eunice's ability for impersonating.

The second one of the graduates to appear was Mr. Dan Lauer, and in a very masterly way he delivered Longfellow's famous poem "The Builder". Mr. Harold Anson next delivered his oration "Think and Try," among the many good things he said: "First we must think what we want to do, then we must put forth every effort and try to do it. For we know not what we can do until we try." The next to appear was Miss Lucile Keller when she delivered her declamation "The Last Hymn," in a very pleasing and appropriate way. Mr. Reed Hughes was the next to appear when he delivered his oration entitled "The Death Bed of Benedict Arnold." Mr. Hughes treated his subject in a scholarly manner and in a very appropriate way reviewed and illustrated the touching scene of the dying traitor Arnold. The last number on the program was a declamation by Miss Mable Schwenfuer entitled, "Time Enough for the Going to be," which was very appropriate for the occasion. After a selection by the orchestra, Rev. W. E. Huckerle delivered the class address. The following is among the many good and encouraging things he said closing: "It has just been a few years ago that I stepped forth on a similar platform and delivered my little oration, and received my diploma (from what at that time was known as the Boxwell examination;) and since then as I have passed through the high school, college and seminary, I wish to say that you have to box-well as your daily tasks confront you. We must be box-well in order to succeed." Mr. Huckerle's words were words of encouragement to the young people just starting in their education. "This is a great country in which to receive an education, and as you advance mentally and physically, advance morally learning to love not only your fellow man, but love the Divine himself."
